AEROSPACE AMERICA

A product of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics

Advanced air mobility could grow into a $115 billion industry that gives all of us new transportation options. Every two weeks, Paul Brinkmann tells you who's flying, who's not, what's blocking the way and more.

Inside Issue 40: I spent last week at AIAA's SciTech Forum in Orlando, where I learned about a Dutch company's plan to manufacture a 90-passenger electric aircraft. On the topic of flight testing, I spoke to pilots from three companies about their experiences flying aircraft that have never before been flown. My colleague Keith Button reported on a NASA-DARPA project to develop anti-collision software for air taxis. — Paul Brinkmann, Aerospace America staff reporter.
